Beijing

Yikes, I fell in love;-) What a trip! Everything I previously knew about China is not relevant on a personal level. Move to Trash. Being together and working with 40 students of the College of Art and Design was fun, intense and marked by attention and profound exchange. At the end we had a wonderful exhibition jointly manufactured work as a homo universalis (see photo at right), a version of myMatrix and a completely new series titled „Circle“. > link

For 14 days I could fully enjoy some of the lifestyle, the culture, the good food and the friendliness of my Chinese hosts. Many thanks.

Also has emerged a new series of „walks“, the „China walks“ with eleven pictures (50 x 28.13 cm): among others, the Great Wall and the Temple of Heaven. > link

San Francisco

Back home, it was a journey around the globe. The plane took off at 1:20 pm in Beijing with stops in Seoul and landed at 12:00 on the same day in San Francisco! What a city. Good thing I was able to take time for my own explorations and many walks beside of the JavaOne conference with its full program > link

The conference started with a keynote speech at the Moscone Center in front of about 1,000 people and the first thing they spoke about was to invite them to upload their photos to the myMatrix server and during the final Community Keynote then the result was presented. > link

Even in America, I came across a lot of friendliness, openness and helpfulness. On my website, there are many more images to see, also the keynotes can be found there > link
