

FACE(S) OF AFRICA

Linda Sarah Nanyondo from Kampala in Uganda photographed over 200 people in four districts (see second flag). It was a wonderful collaboration, I got her address and further support from the German Embassy there.

In the meantime, over 100 portraits have also arrived from Gambia and there is also a nice story about them (I think):

During a conversation with Katrin Schacher on the occasion of a new exhibition at Schacher - Raum für Kunst in Stuttgart, she mentions in relation to the Africa project that she knows Petra Drammeh from Filderstadt, who is not only married to a man from Gambia, but has also been in charge of an association for many years that is involved in various fields in Gambia. After a telephone conversation with her, she names me the photographer Ansumana Darboe, who is in the process of photographing the various locations of the association and their activities in Gambia. Ansumana Darboe gladly accepts my request and takes all these portraits within two weeks.

As part of its activity KULTUR MACHEN, the district of Reutlingen commissioned filmmaker Gerhard Stahl to create a clip about my work. It is now available with English subtitles via this link:
